Preface

The Illinois State Council on Aging is pleased to publish this "Directory of Clubs and Centers for Older Adults in Illinois" for use by public and voluntary agencies serving older adults and by individuals seeking information regarding opportunities for leisure time activities.

The Council is appointed by the Governor to promote the development and maintenance of a comprehensive network of public and private facilities to assist older adults in maintaining economic self-sufficiency and personal well-being, and in realizing their maximum potentials. It is staffed by the Section on Services for Aging, Illinois Department of Public Aid.

When the previous directory was published in 1959, only 150 groups for older adults were known to us. This directory contains over 660 listings. The phenomenal growth of this kind of resource, coupled with the increasing frequency of requests regarding such groups and facilities, convinced us that this publication was urgently needed.

The wide variety in sponsorship is indicative of the increasing awareness of the important role of clubs and centers in meeting the needs of older adults. In addition to independent groups, organized and conducted by older persons themselves, clubs and centers are sponsored by social agencies such as YMCAs, YWCAs and settlements; civic and service organizations; public housing authorities; park and recreation departments; health departments; municipalities; churches and denominational bodies; neighborhood associations; voluntary citizens' groups; homes for the aged; and labor unions, as well as others.

We feel sure that, due to our lack of knowledge about them, some groups have not been included. In succeeding editions we hope to have a more complete listing as well as more information regarding the programs offered.

Compilation of the Directory

This directory is based on information provided by a number of sources in Illinois. These include the county superintendents of the Illinois Department of Public Aid, the Chicago Commission for Senior Citizens and other organizations or agencies which operate more than one facility or program for older adults in our state.

The listings are grouped as follows: 1) by county, excluding Cook County; 2) Cook County, outside of Chicago; 3) Chicago; and 4) local chapters of the American Association of Retired Persons and of the Illinois Retired Teachers Association.

An effort has been made to include those organized groups for older adults which meet on a regular basis. Among these are senior centers (which are marked with an asterisk). For the purpose of this directory, a senior center (as differentiated from a club) is defined as a program of services offered in a designated physical facility in which older adults meet at least three days a week. The majority of the centers listed have professional leadership. Many are multi-purpose, providing a variety of individual services, such as counseling on personal, financial or health problems, in addition to opportunities for participation in social, recreational and educational activities.

Acknowledgment is hereby made to the staffs of the Public Information Section and the Copy Preparation and Duplicating Units, Illinois Department of Public Aid, for their assistance in design, makeup and production of this directory. Their help has been invaluable.
